Hi – I saw on the weekly report that you had raised the same questions regarding the consulates requesting information about the separated minors and their parents. Please see attached an email from [REDACTED] indicating the process.

Hi [REDACTED] – I actually just requested guidance on this same thing. Please see [REDACTED]'s email attached. The embassies (not the consulates) have to send their information requests to [REDACTED] and [REDACTED]

Hi [REDACTED]

Please see request below from the Guatemalan Consulate for UC-parent separation information. I don't know if any other regions have provided this information to the Consulates, but to date Chicago Care Providers or CFS/FFS have only provided lists of all current Guatemalan UC in care and have not provided any case details or flagged any parent separations. Please advise if we are to assist or are prohibited from sharing any of this information with the Consulate and I will respond accordingly. Thanks.

Dear Mr. [REDACTED]

Greetings, would you please help us providing us the list of the Juveniles that arrive to the ORR Facilities under the Zero Tolerance (May 6, 2018).

We want to coordinate with our other Consulates of Guatemala in the US that are in charge of assisting the parents detained in the Adult Detention facilities under their jurisdiction. Our goal is to help in the reunification and/or possible return to Guatemala.

Regards,

[REDACTED]

Those requests need to come through their embassies.

Good morning,

The Miami branches of the consulates of El Salvador, Guatemala, and Honduras have all asked for data regarding separated children. Has there been a standard developed regarding what information we can and cannot provide them? Most of the consulates are asking for the names of the separated minors, the names of their parents, and their parent's whereabouts. Some of them have asked for more detailed information, such as: where were the parent/ child initially detained, what is the reunification status, et cetera.

Thank you,

During Friday's phone call, I know you referred Ivonne to an email where she can send these types of requests. Would you also provide us with that email please?

Thank you!
